YOUNG TOUGHS' WANTON CRIME

Filled Child's Mouth With Mud.

Little Fellow Was Almost Smothered When Help Arrived.

Nearly a Pound of Mud and Dirt Was Removed From Mouth and

Three-year-old Leroy Langan, son of Jerry Langan of 242 West First South street, had a narrow escape from serious injury or perhaps death at the hands of three youthful rufflans yesterday afternoon. Only the prompt interference of the child's mother prevented the lad from strangling after his mouth and throat had been stuffed full of mud. As it was the child was unconsclous for several minutes as a result of the assault. Mrs. Langan was very much exercised over the treatment of er child and reported the matter to the Sheriff's office. The names of the youthful miscreants are not known, but an effort will be made to have them apprehended and punished.

They Had Some Fun.

According to the statement of his mother the boy was playing near the corner of Second West and First South streets yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Three youngsters who appeared to be about 12 or 14 years of age came along, and seeing the little fellow.

came along, and seeing the little fellow at play in the road, decided to "have some fun with him."

"Let's fill his face with mud," suggested one of the urchins, and in a thrice they had seized the boy and began stuffing mud down his throat. When they had his mouth filled so full that his cheeks bulged out, they plastered a few layers in the child's ears and ran away.

On account of his peculiar predicament the child was unable to cry for help and it was with much difficulty that he breathed. His mother chanced to see the attack and hurriedly went to the rescue, but before she arrived the little fellow had toppled over and sank into unconsciousness. He is subject to epileptic fits and the rough treatment he had received brought on a return of the malady.

Removed Pound of Dirt.

Mrs. Langan hurriedly carried the child into her house and after several minutes restored the little fellow to consciousness. When he had been rid of nearly a pound of mud and dirt, he felt much better and will suffer no lasting effects from the assault.

The matter was at once reported to one of Sheriff Emery's deputies, and an investingtion will be made. Mrs. Langan declared last evening that she was anxious to have the young ruffians arrested, and if necessary she may swear

Barnett reported the occurrence to the police department as a matter of courtesy, but as he left on the afternoon train for the coast, he evidently has but slight hopes of recovering his colp.

According to the story related by the victim yesterday morning, Barnett fell in with a couple of affable strangers at the temple grounds, and after the usual liquid preliminaries, a card game was started

One of the men proved to be unusually clever with the "pictures," and amused the others by showing them a number of the tricks of the green cloth fraternity. Incidentally he explained the mysteries of the old "ace trick," a deception that had its origin in the buffet of Noah's ark.

For some unknown reason the stranger failed to make good on the first trial, and Barnett won a dollar by show-ing the stranger where he was wrong. Again the man tried and failed; this time the gentleman from Kansas City winning $5. He made several more attempts, but always failed, until Barnett bet $50. This time the card shark solved the mystery and gathered in the money. Barnett at once reported the matter to the police and then boarded a train for the coast. No arrests have been

Hon, Simon Wolf Visits Salt Lake.

Shows the Natural Capacity of the Jewish Immigrants.

New Comers Are Good Citizens for New Countries, but Are Swallowed Up in New York's Maelstrom.

Salt Lake enjoyed a brief visit from the Hon. Simon Wolf of Washington, D. C., esterday. Lawyer, orator and benefactor f his race, this gentleman stands today one of the most prominent men among the American Jews. His present mission is purely an unselfish one and the trip throughout the country is made at his wn expense. He is president of the contitutional grand lodge, Independent Order of B'nal E'rith, and he is visiting the lodges for the purposes, as he himself aptly puts it, "of increasing the memership, of stimulating these already members and arousing the whole Jewish popdation to a sense of their duty."

Owing to the rush of travel on the Rio brande, necessitating many sections, of sch westbound train, Mr. Wolf was late a arriving, it being after 5 o'clock when is reached the Kenyon.

Addressed the Lodge.

He was met by the reception committee, however, and after dinner at the hotel he was escorted to the hall of the B. F. Pekacito lodge, I. O. B. B., where the members had gathered to greet him. Here Mr. Wolf was introduced and made one of his ringing speeches for which he is noted. He showed how the order was steadily growing and becoming more and more popular, while it was doing good in many ways, and its influence was gradually extending throughout the land for the ultimate uplifting and benefiting of the Jewish people.

one of the greatest movements to be ade by all Jews at the present time was o unitedly work for the betterment of lose immigrants who are peuring into this country. Jews who are making of New York a far more crowded Ghette than exists in the heart of Russia. These than exists in the heart of Russia. These Jewish immigrants are not mendicants nor paupers but good, honest people who are crowding into this country because of certain conditions or persecutions in their old home. New York is the first place they see and that city is becoming pitiably overcrowded with them and he is making it his personal mission to acquaint all the Jews of the country with this sad condition and enlist their support and sympathy in an effort to improve this state of affairs.

Jews Are Good Workmen.

Jews Are Good Workmen.

These immigrants, he went on to explain, were mostly people who could work at various trades and it was the wish of the order and he wanted to make it the aim of every conscientious Jew, to help to find places for these workmen, to scatter them throughout the United States, thereby relieving the congestion in the metropolis; to work for the ultimate aim of making of these people strong and vigorous law-abiding citizens of the United States.

To prove that the Jews have been good citizens in the past, are now excellent citizens, and that those who are daily arriving are capable of the highest form of American citizens, among them being that in his own work. "The American Jew as Fatriot, Soldler and Citizen." it was shown that 10,000 Jewish citizens of the United States had fought for this country in several wars dating from the Revolution and that the Civil war records showed 2000 Jews out of the then total showed 8000 Iews out of the ther their school work than any other class of children.

Last year there were over 100,000 immigrants, mostly from Russia. These peorie have but little in prospect, but they would be good citizens for any growing community. The only trouble is that they are not given the opportunity. They stop in New York and in their overcrowded condition their future is blighted. To relieve this condition is the main purpose of the visit of Mr. Wolf. He was listened to attentively and roundly applauded when he ended his remarks.

Mr. Wolf was seen at the Kenyon after the meeting at the lodge-room, and when asked for an interview very pleasantly assented, although he said that he could add but little to what he had already said. add but little to what he had already Wherever he had been he had bee ceived by enthusiastic audiences and

When asked for a statement of the re-lation of the Jews to the political side of the United States he made the statement that there were now something like 1,309,000 Jews in the United States and that a large majority of them were Re-publicans. As to President Roosevelt he said that he had shown himself the friend of the Jew time and time again and there was no doubt that they would vote for him and thereby horeese.

Mr. Wolf is a thirty-third degree Mason, to which W. H. Bancroft, Christopher Dichl and Jake Greenewald have risen in this State. His son, Adolph Grant Wolf, was recently appointed by President Roosevelt as an Associate Justice of the Supreme court of Porte Rico, and but very recently sat in the first case on tribul before that tribunal.

As a public man and lawyer in Washington, Mr. Wolf wields great influence entirely aside from his Jewish benevolent work. He is a delightful person to meet and has a strong, resonant voice and a line command of language. His visit was one that will long be remembered by the members of Pelxotto lodge and that his words will be afford the lodge from this day on.

Taken From His Tent to the City Jail Where He Will Be Held Temporarily.

With nothing but a tent made from old sacks to keep away the wind and rain. John Chase, a victim of the morphine habit, was discovered last night by the police in a badly demented condition. Chase imagined that persons were seeking his life and accusing him of divers hein ous crimes, and he presented a most pitt-ful appearance as he attempted to explain his grievances to Chief Lynch. His mind was badly demoralized from exces-sive use of drugs and he seemed to be in sive use of mortal terr Called the Police.

Called the Police.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last evening Chase telephoned to police headquarters for an officer, saying that there was trouble brewing at his place on First West, between Second and Third South. Chief Lynch went to the scene in the patrol wagon. Chase was located after much trouble in a make-shift tent, pitched against the side of a barn in the rear of the B & O transfer stables. The tent had been made from old sacks and was but a scant protection from the cold night air. A rude cot, two or three boxes and a small stove constituted the furnishings of the place.

"There's a woman, I don't know who she is, and she's madly infatuated with me. She hangs around here all the time and I can't get rid of her, so I sent for you to take her away. Then, besides, the neighbors accuse me of so many crimes that I am pretty near crazy, All night leng they lay around my tent looking for an opportunity to kill me, but I keep awake and don't give them a chance. Can't you hear them talking now?" said the morphine-crazed man, although not a sound was alsoernible. he morphine-crazed man, actioning the assound was discernible.

Chase makes a living by buying and selling junk. He appears to be a nervous wreek and looks to be a fit subject for the county authorities. Called on the Sheriff.

Earlier in the day Chase caused a commotion at the Sheriff's office by rushing in and demanding protection from a man with a gun as big as a cannon who, he said, had been after him for three or four days. He said he had given food to a man and wife. The wife had been grateful, whereupon the husband became jealous and wanted Chase's life. The couple, of course, existed only in Chase's disordered brain.

PROFESSORS DISAGREE.

Question of Discipline Now Agitating the Faculty at the U. of U.

To discipline or not to discipline the students of the university for such little breaches of the rules as that of Monday last, when several classes were day last, when several classes were broken up by those eager to celebrate the football victory of Saturday, is a question now disturbing the faculty of the institution. It was one of the chief subjects discussed at the meeting of the faculty Monday night, there being a decided difference of opinion between the professors as to the propriety or impropriety of allowing students to celebrate a victory during school hours, especially to the extent of disturbing other students engaged in study or recitation.

The outcome of the discussion was a reference to the discipline committee, of which Dr. Merrill is chairman, and the recommendations of the committee will be made at the meeting of the faculty next Monday evening. What the report will be, no one can forstell, but students are wondering whether there will be a repetition of the discipline upon a number of young men and women two years ago, who caused such a disturbance during and after the presentation of the "Amazons" at the Salt Lake Theater by a number of U. of U. students. They were suspended for two weeks and great was the indignation among many of the students.

was the indignation among many of the students. The report of this committee will be awalted with interest by members of the faculty and students allke, as it will probably govern the future celebrations of athletic or other victories, at least within the walls of the university.

Actor Gives Two Lectures. Frederick Warde gave two lectures to students yesterday, as has been his cus-tom every year during his visits to this tom every year during his visits to this city. In the morning he spoke to the girls at St. Mary's academy on "Hamlet," and in the afternoon to the students and friends of All Hallows college on the "Lessons of Life." Both subjects were handled in the matterly subjects were handled in the masterly way which has made Mr. Warde vorite lecturer in this city, an additional vorite lecturer in this city, an additional charm being lent by numerous readings from Shakespeare's works. He will de-liver a Shakespearean lecture to the public at 10 o'clock this morning at Barratt hall.
